'JAKE THE BARBER' SEEKS CAPONE AND TO RECOVER SON

Police Asked To 'Ease Up' in Search for Kidnaped University Student as Factor Turns to Underworld.

ABDUCTORS DEMAND RANSOM OF $100,000

Humphries and Fusco, Titular Heads of 'Scarface' Gang Talk With Speculator-Father.

CHICAGO, April 16.—(AP)—John "Jake the Barber" Factor tonight was reported to have appealed to the craft and power of the underworld to assist him in efforts to secure the return of his kidnapped son, Jerome, 17.

Word came from the hotel suite where the internationally known speculator and his associates conferred with Murray Humphries and Joe Fusco, titular heads of the Capone gang, apparently seeking their aid to contact the abductors.

Meanwhile, police said they had been asked to "ease up" on activities while attempts were made to negotiate with the kidnappers. Factor, who said, was careful harm might befall the youth.

Police said that Factor—distracted over his son's abduction—was near a nervous breakdown.

Jerome, a Northwestern University student, was kidnapped Wednesday night and Factor said $100,000 in ransom had been asked, a sum he said he was unable to pay.

Two ransom notes were received since the youth was spirited away from his South Side home where he lived with his mother, Factor's first wife.

The first read: "If you want your son Jerome home you will do as you are told. Get $50,000 in old money in small denominations. Have it ready on short notice. Do not notify police or FBI. We will send him home in parts. Be ready to follow instructions on a minute's notice. It's up to you. Do you want your son or your money?"

Factor said the second communication raised the ransom demand to $100,000.

The kidnapped youth was described by the father as "the studious kind and quite a debater." Jerome, a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, was a member of a trust fund established for him by Factor—was a junior at the university.

Gilbert and Captain Thomas Callahan, head of the secret service here, continued their investigation of the kidnapping despite Factor's reluctance to have their aid.

Meanwhile, Factor's attorneys departed for Washington to appeal to the United States supreme court, on a charge of swindling British investors of $8,000,000 in a stock promotion scheme. Four of his alleged associates already have been convicted in England. Factor settled a civil action in the case for $1,300,000.

Peru's Forces Placed Under One Command

LIMA, Peru, April 16.—(AP)—A governmental decree today ordered that Peruvian land, air, and sea forces be placed under the command of a single general.

Cell Will Be Study For California Youth

BERKELEY, Cal., April 16.—(AP)—Arrested for speeding, Lloyd Winter, University senior, pleaded for stay of judgment until after examinations.

The court decided, however, jail would be an ideal place for five days of concentrated study in preparation for the tests.

RUSSIANS MAY GET HEAVIER PENALTY IN SABOTAGE TRIAL

Prosecutor May Ask Court To Deal More Leniently With Britons Than With Alleged Aids

MOSCOW, April 16.—(AP)—The prosecutor in the trial of six British electrical engineers on charges of sabotage, bribery and espionage, indicated tonight that the prosecution may ask the court to deal more leniently with the Britons than with their Russian co-defendants.

Andrew Vishinsky, the prosecutor, in summing up testimony presented during the four previous days of the hearing declared "the prosecution considers that the Soviet employees deserve more serious penalties than those of foreign firms."

Scathingly attacking the 11 Russian prisoners as traitors, Vishinsky maintained that "the crime of the L. C. Thornton and Allan Monkhouse, who have no words to depict the attitude of the prosecution toward those who betrayed their native land."

Monkhouse, the ranking member of the Metropolitan-Vickers firm in Russia, was depicted by Vishinsky as trying "to represent that we are attacking the Metropolitan-Vickers Company."

The prosecutor maintained that there was no claim against the British firm "as a company" and added that "Monkhouse is here as a man accused of a crime and not as a representative of Metropolitan-Vickers."

Starting the prosecution's presentation shortly after the opening of the week-end session, Vishinsky opened his remarks with what ap-

FARLEY TO RETAIN ALL POSTMASTERS UNTIL TERMS END

Administration Plans No Shakeup in Ranks of Those Whose Work Is Satisfactory.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—George Postmasters whose terms have not yet expired and who are performing efficient and loyal service, may cease to worry over reports that the new administration contemplates ousting them from their jobs immediately.

Taking cognizance of such reports, Postmaster-General James A. Farley gave assurance in a formal statement today that all postmasters now rendering good service will be permitted to continue on until their terms expire.

At the same time he declared that the Roosevelt administration had no intention of abandoning civil service examinations in the selection of candidates for postmastership appointments.

Such examinations will continue but it is probable that a new set of rules and regulations will be promulgated for selecting the list of eligibles.

Heretofore the civil service commission after an examination, has certified a list of three eligibles of appointment as postmasters in the presidential grades. It may be that this will be changed to provide for a larger number of eligibles.

Postmaster-General Farley announced that a study is now being made under the direction of First Assistant Postmaster-General Joseph O'Mahoney of the manner in which examinations have been made in the past.

After the survey is completed the results will be submitted to the civil service commission, which will be asked to recommend the rules and regulations which are to prevail in the Roosevelt administration.

He did not indicate what the rules might be.

In denying reports that the administration might abandon civil service examination for postmastership appointment, the postmaster-general declared that the fact that the civil service system was firmly entrenched under a democratic administration and it was a democratic president who placed in the hands of the commission the task of examining applicants for postmasters.

"The first thing I want to say about the postmastership situation is this," Mr. Farley declared. "No incumbent whose term has not yet expired and who has been rendering loyal and efficient service to the government, need have the slightest fear of removal. It will be the policy of the postoffice department to allow every efficient postmaster to fill out his term."

Those postmasters whose terms have expired, however, may naturally expect their successors to be appointed just as soon as the department finds it possible in the conduct of government business to do so.

"There have been numerous reports in the press attributing to me and to the administration an intention to abandon civil service examinations in the selection of postmasters."

Girl, Burned at Home, Near Death at Grady

Eight-year-old Katherine Mitchell, daughter of R. S. Mitchell, who lives at 1215 N. Peachtree street, was burned at her home Sunday morning during her father's absence from the house.

Although burned in several places, the girl was not seriously injured. She had put out the flames which completely covered her body and severely burned her throat, doctors held no hope for her recovery late Sunday.

Katherine, now her 10-year-old sister Jane, was burned during the flames which leaped out and set fire to the front porch, while struggling to beat the fire out. Neighbors who heard the girl's screams came from across the street and finally checked the flames.

Katherine's father had left the house only a few minutes before for a short visit to a neighbor. Opal, 9, another sister, was in the back yard playing alone. Her mother died at Grady about a year ago.

Christian World Feels Spell of Easter Spirit

Atlanta Churches Packed, Spirit of Joy Reigns; Sun Beams on Fashion Parade.

Along with the rest of the civilized world, Atlanta Sunday worshipped in the varied ways of many denominations and creeds the resurrection from the tomb some 1,900 years ago.

Churches were packed. New bonnets and new gowns adorned many of the worshippers, though in many a congregation there were patched trousers and a hat that was in vogue many seasons since. There were no particular rituals. Old world customs were in such a fog, to be sure, but the spirit with which thousands of voices lifted songs of praise to heaven was all the spirit of joy and triumph.

From the early masses to the evening services, members and non-members paraded to and from the places of worship. Before and after services many of them paraded just because they loved to parade. Others who did not go to church joined the throngs that joyfully walked to and fro in observance of another Easter.

Dozens of ideal and infirm people were carried to church by cabs of the Black and White Cab Company. Limousines and ancient models, most of them with sparkling new $3 tags, were lined up on the street and the cars were crowded during the morning hours.

Quaint rites featured some of the services. Fraternal orders held their own particular rituals. Old world customs were brought to Atlanta for the day and the children again heard the many myths and lore about rabbits and Easter eggs.

Elaborate ceremonies marked the observance of the day by Atlanta's colony of Greeks. Jews observed the day with their own customs and rituals. Italians and Spaniards worshipped according to the customs of their land while Christian Chinese and Japanese observed the day with their own customs and rituals.

Pageantry in some and special services in virtually all marked the morning worship. From 5 o'clock, church services at several and the formal evening service at a majority. Three Atlanta corps of the Salvation Army held solemn services.

Run Down by Car, Blind Man Dying Slated in Council

E. W. Hazel, Musician, and Crippled Friend Victims of Hit-Run Auto.

E. W. Hazel, blind member of a team of musicians familiar to all downtown Atlanta, was so seriously injured by a hit-and-run driver early Sunday morning that it was necessary to amputate his leg at Grady hospital, and his crippled partner, Bruce Woods, struck at the same time, suffered a badly broken right leg and painful lacerations about the head.

Both were taken to Grady by a passing motorist and the condition of Hazel was described as "critical." Doctors held little hope for his recovery.

According to the musicians, they were en route to Woods' home in East Peach street, south of a prominent intersection, when a speeding automobile crashed down on them. Police in Atlanta and Hapeville were investigating, but were without any clues as to the identity of the driver of the car.

Hazel, who lives at 235 Simpson street, N. W., plays an accordion and Woods a banjo. They were recently banned from the streets and had been playing for private parties.

E. G. Ballenger Jr., 23, of 60 East Peach street, son of a prominent Atlanta physician, also was at Grady, another victim of a hit-and-run driver. He told police that, while driving on Ponce de Leon near Piedmont, another car struck his machine broadside, hurling it in the safety zone at that corner. He received severe cuts about the face and had, doctors said, a possible concussion of the brain.

INFLATION ISSUE "SHOWDOWN" DUE IN SENATE TODAY

Wheeler and Long Will Lead Fight for Expansion Through Opening Doors to Silver.

By HARRY FERGUSON.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(UP)—A compact group of senators mustered their strength tonight for a supreme test in the senate tomorrow to determine whether America shall seek economic salvation by inflation of the currency.

It is doubtful whether any more important issue has been brought to the floor of congress this session, for the outcome either will keep the United States on the narrow path of a rigid, unbending dollar or send it out along the road to cheaper money.

Slogans and theories of the mauve decade when Admiral Dewey was a hero and Theodore Roosevelt was a lieutenant colonel of volunteers in the Spanish-American War have been carried out of the past and pressed into service again.

The cry of "16-to-1" will be raised again even though its author, William Jennings Bryan, lies dead in Arlington national cemetery. Another aggressive, eloquent westerner will take up the torch where Bryan dropped it, when Senator Burton K. Wheeler, democrat of Montana, rises to press for enactment of an amendment which would authorize the coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 to gold.

Bryan's theories and philosophy have endured in the silver-producing states of the Rocky mountains, and the wheeler will voice them tomorrow.

He will seek to have his amendment attached to the Roosevelt farm relief bill. Leaders on both sides of the chamber predicted Wheeler's defeat tonight.

Wheeler's is only one of the many inflation proposals up for senate consideration. Senator Huey Long, democrat of Louisiana, said tonight he would insist on consideration tomorrow of his amendment to the farm bill providing for government purchase of silver with the issuance of currency against it.

If the Wheeler and Long amendment are defeated the next attack will come from the republican progressives. Senator Frazier has a bill which he hopes to substitute for the farm relief measure. It calls for the government to issue between $8,000,000,000 and $9,000,000,000 in bonds to refinance the farm mortgage.

Provision is made for issuance of currency against the bonds.

Others expected to bulk large in the attack of the inflationists are Senators Thomas, democrat of Oklahoma, and Bankhead, democrat of Alabama.

Long gave out a warning tonight that the inflationists were not to be deterred from their course. "The inference must not interfere with our plans for building up a sound monetary system."

Shoals Bill Approval Foreseen by McSwain

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(AP)—A prediction that President Roosevelt's vast Tennessee valley program will go to the house floor by Tuesday night, substantially as recommended, today was made by Chairman McSwain, of the military committee.

"I cannot believe that the committee will strike out transmission lines or fertilizer production," McSwain said.

The only opposition in three days of hearings, as evidenced by the features of the Tennessee basin project, which Mr. Roosevelt wants developed around the government's Muscle Shoals properties.

TWO ARE CONVICTED FOR KIDNAPING GIRL

Moultrie Jury Hears Story of Promise of Western Ranch.

MOULTRIE, Ga., April 16.—Two farm hands, one a negro and the other white, are under sentences of four to five years each in the penitentiary following their conviction of kidnaping a pretty 14-year-old daughter of a farmer living near Berlin, this county.

According to the story told by the girl the white man, Clarence Gentry, of Jacksonville, Ala., who had been living on her father's farm for about two months, enticed her to leave home by declaring that some of his relatives owned a big ranch in New Mexico, and that he would carry her to it and life there would be easy. She was afraid to go unless Mose Blackford and his wife, negroes, went along as they had lived on the place for a long time.

One night last September the four left the Mooze farm and walked most of the way to Villa Rica. They were arrested by the sheriff of Cobb county two weeks after they left home, on complaint of a Villa Rica station operator.

After their arrest the girl told the sheriff of Cobb county her story, and officers here were notified. Her father went for her and officers brought Gentry and the negroes to Moultrie.

Thirsty of Savannah See Oasis Just Across the State Line

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 16.—Arid Savannah is expecting to be considerably moistened through the action of the general assembly of South Carolina in making it legal to sell 3.2 per cent beer in that state. For Savannah is but two rivers removed from South Carolina and there is a splendid highway leading into the newly created oasis.

It will be but a 15-minute drive from the city hall of Savannah to what promises to be a great center of supply for liquid refreshments in the state. This promised source of supply to Savannah is known as the Old Mill and it stands beside the main highway.

In the old days when rice was one of the principal products of this section, the rice mill was the scene of marked industrial activity. It stood in the center of a great and productive rice plantation and was employed in hulling rice which was shipped to every quarter of the world.

For several years after the war the lands were also cultivated, but within the past several years there has been no rice grown and the old mill wore a deserted look and presented a forlorn appearance. It was inaccessible. There was no bridge across the Savannah river anywhere close to it and no highway within several miles. The old owners of the property had been content to ferry over to Savannah when they wanted to reach mainland and return in the same way.

Then came the magic of quick transportation from Savannah into South Carolina. Modern bridges were built and a paved highway extended to the Savannah river line. And later this pavement was piercing the state of South Carolina.

So things began to pick up in the immediate vicinity of the Old Mill. Somebody leased it for a dancing place and as a center of eating and indulging in soft drinks. Within the past few months it has been operated in an indifferent way, caring for those who wished to buy temperance drinks and dance a little. Its restaurant was operated when there was any call for its services.

Georgia News Told in Brief

Visiting Jurists.
SAVANNAH, Ga., April 16.—Judge R. N. Hardeman, of Louisville, will be in Savannah tomorrow for the purpose of holding court for Judge Peter W. Meldrum. Judge Hardeman is to try civil cases. Judge Saxton Daniel, of the Atlantic circuit, sat during the past week hearing criminal matters.

Fugitive Returned.
McDONOUGH, Ga., April 16.—Lloyd Barton, escaped convict, was returned to the Henry county jail tonight by Sheriff L. D. Hightower. According to advices received from Danielville Barton had been arrested there early Friday. Barton is said, who was serving a sentence of five to 10 years for burglary, overpowered a guard in September of 1932 and fled with a negro, Al Demport, made good his escape. Demport was captured early in January.

Garden Show.
SUMMERVILLE, Ga., April 16.—The Chatterbox County Garden Club's annual flower show will be held at the Sturdivant gymnasium at 11 o'clock Friday, May 12. Prizes will be given for the best exhibits of practically all varieties of flowers and shrubbery and there will be a sweepstakes prize for the best general exhibit.

History of Chattooga.
SUMMERVILLE, Ga., April 16.—Information as to the Indians that were once residents of Chattooga county, the first settlers of the county, the founding of Summerville, Lyerly, Trion and Menlo, and much other information pertaining to the county is being sought by Professor J. H. Cook, of the University of Georgia, who was recently appointed to write the history of Chattooga county for a permanent record.

Barn Burns.
McDONOUGH, Ga., April 16.—Two thousand bundles of fodder, 75 bushels of oats and a quantity of farming implements belonging to J. Milam, of Henry county, were destroyed by fire when a barn on the plantation of Dr. R. L. Tye, near Flippin, burned to the ground.

Womanless Wedding.
TENNILLE, Ga., April 16.—Under the auspices of the P. T. A. of the Riddleville school, the "Womanless Wedding" was presented last night by the businessmen of that community. The character part were as follows: Bride, J. J. Page; groom, Johnnie Smith; best man, L. E. Shepard; matron of honor, Horace Hodges; ring-bearer, Gainer Bryan; flower girls, Jack Wamack and Alfred Crouch; bridesmaids, Ralph Page, Olin Hodges, Lester Sheppard, William McNeely, Tom Breet, C. C. Crouch, Elmer Womack, Bonni Allen, Gainer Paradise, Louis Hodges; minister, Rufus Page.

HEAVY WIND, RAIN DAMAGE HAHIRA
HAHIRA, Ga., April 16.—Following heavy rains of all night duration, the wind blew a gale for some two hours at Hahira early Saturday morning, beginning about dawn. Damage to property was not so heavy, some roof damage was noted, the tops of chimneys lifted off, fences blown down, and limbs torn from trees. A negro, Corene Miley Bonds, living in the edge of town, ran out of her house just as a large limb from a tree in the yard crashed across her path and she was critically injured. All wire connections out of Hahira are down and the streets are carpeted with leaves and limbs from shade trees and shrubbery.

THOMASVILLE LOSES

THOMASVILLE, Ga., April 16.—The Rev. Silas Johnson, pastor of the Methodist church here, preached his last sermon today prior to being transferred to the Vineville church at Macon, one of the outstanding churches of the south.

MISSISSIPPI DEPUTY IS HELD IN SHOOTING

BLOXI, Miss., April 16.—(AP)—Frank Anderson, 52-year-old Biloxi bookkeeper, died in the hospital here today from a bullet wound inflicted last night as he entered a local rooming house with Mrs. L. E. Case, 42, of New Orleans.

Deputy Sheriff Julius Sablich Sr., 62, is being held in jail without bond, pending an investigation of the shooting. No charges have been filed against him. Chief Deputy Sheriff W. F. Gorenflo made the arrest about an hour after the shooting.

Friends said that Anderson had planned to marry Mrs. Case today and that prior to her acquaintance with Anderson she and Sablich had been friends.

MIAMI WILL OBSERVE PAN-AMERICAN DAY
MIAMI, Fla., April 16.—(AP)—Miami will observe Pan-American Day tomorrow as its gesture of good will to neighbor countries to the south.

Diplomatic representatives of various Latin-American countries will participate in the festivities. They arrived yesterday by special train from Washington and New York.

FIVE OF 8 ESCAPES ARE BACK IN PRISON

Youngest Men in Break Recaptured; Oldsters Still at Large.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., April 16.—Five of the eight convicts who escaped from the state prison farm Thursday afternoon were back in prison tonight, deprived of the usual liberties given to prisoners who are on their good behavior.

Acting on a tip from Dodge county, Judge B. H. Dunaway, superintendent of the farm, and other officials, took track dogs to Dodge county this morning and before noon rounded up three of the escapes in a swamp.

These were Bill Joiner, 19, serving a year from Dodge county; Duvie, 23, serving a year from Atkinson county; and Raymond Skipper, 20, serving two years from Spalding county. The men were not armed.

Previously Frank and Joe White, brothers, 15 and 16 years old, serving time from Spalding county for burglary when they tried to make their getaway on a freight train.

Those still hunted are H. G. Barnes, 35, serving 8 to 10 years for burglary from Chattham county; Ben Janier, 30, serving 13 years for larceny from Lowndes county; and Rodrick Lyons, serving 3 to 4 years for larceny from Fulton county.

Prison officials expressed the opinion that the three men still missing are in possession of a new automobile in which the eight fled as they left the state. They also probably have the pistol and shotgun taken from a guard at the farm.

BOYS' HIGH STUDENT ELECTED TO HEAD SCHOOL PRESS BODY

Henry Stanford, of Boys' High, was elected president of the Atlanta High School Press Association at its first annual convention in the hall of the house of representatives at the state capitol last week. Other officers named include: Elizabeth Shear, North Avenue Presbyterian school, vice president; Harold Ellison, Tech High, secretary; Cora Farlow, Commercial, treasurer; Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, trustee, and Father Louis Emmerth, of Marist College, adviser.

Addresses were made to the delegates by Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution; Dr. Sutton, O. B. Keeler and Ernest Rogers, of the Journal, and Mike Thomas, of the Georgian. The following schools are charter members of the organization: Boys' High, Tech High, Commercial High, Washington Seminary, Druid Hills High, Decatur High, North Avenue Presbyterian school, Georgia Military Academy, Russell High, Marietta High, Fulton High, North Fulton High, Marist College, Central Night school, O'Keefe Junior High, Joe Brown Junior High, Hoke Smith Junior High, Murphy Junior High, Madison Junior High, Girls' High and Bass Junior High.

BAINBRIDGE CITIZEN DROWNS BELOW DAM

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., April 16.—A two-day search for the body of Ozzie C. James, 45, who was drowned in the turbulent waters of the spillway at a dam of the Georgia Power & Light Company, near here, has proved unavailing. The boat in which James was standing when both were down beneath the flood, rose to the surface Saturday and it is believed the body will be recovered nearby. James was an unemployed cigar roller and a World War veteran. He drowned Friday while fishing with a cousin. It happened when one end of the boat swung beneath the falls. His estranged wife and adopted daughter, of Atlanta, arrived today. His father, one brother and five sisters also survive.

ATLANTA EDUCATORS SPEAK IN SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 16.—The Savannah service club are to hear addresses from some well known Georgia educators during the coming week. The speakers will be here attending the convention of the Georgia educators. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the public schools of Atlanta, is to speak at the meeting of the Rotary club Tuesday. Dr. Gordon Singleton, who is in the state education department in Atlanta, is to speak to the Kiwanis club on Wednesday.

Wesleyan Chosen as "Treasure" For Bicentennial by 6th District

TENNILLE, Ga., April 16.—The selection of Wesleyan College, Macon, by the club women of the sixth district to figure as the district's "treasure" in the pageant to be presented in Savannah on April 27 and 28 as a part of the bicentennial celebration when every district in the state through its president will present to Queen Georgia an offering, was a happy choice. The task of selecting the one was difficult, because as a whole the sixth has more distinctive points of interest than any one district, as it embraces a strip of territory within the confines of which were enacted numerous stirring events that were significant in the history of our state.

Other claims were brought up for consideration, among them Louisville and Milledgeville, once state capitals and scenes of episodes in Georgia history. It was pointed out that other districts can lay claim to having had the state capital located within its borders. Wesleyan was chosen because it has the distinction of being the oldest chartered woman's college in the world. The pageant for that occasion, entitled "Georgia—Our Queen," was written by Mrs. H. M. Franklin, Tennille, and Mrs. S. G. Lang, Sandersville, will present the sixth district's "treasure." In every one of the 16 counties of the sixth are places in historic lore, and each can claim as having had as among its distinguished residents a governor, United States senator, or some widely known statesman.

Some of the historic points of interest and residents of these counties include: Jefferson, Louisville, first in the Yazoo fraud; site of final act in the Georgia Baptist convention formed at Powellton in 1822 at the church organized by Silas Mercer.

Dr. E. S. Peacock Dies at Harrison

TENNILLE, Ga., April 16.—Dr. E. S. Peacock, one of the most prominent physicians in this part of the state and one of Washington county's most influential residents, died at his home in Harrison yesterday afternoon after only one day's illness. He suffered a stroke of paralysis Friday. Dr. Peacock was actively identified with the medical, educational, Masonic and religious affairs of this county. He was outstanding in the work of the Washington County Medical Society and for many years served as its president. He was a member of the county board of health, the Harrison Lodge F. & A. M., the Washington Masonic convention, and took an active part in many civic enterprises. Dr. Peacock was 72 years old, and a member of the Baptist church.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at Mount Moriah church four miles from here, conducted by Rev. R. D. Hodges, of Tennille, assisted by Rev. W. J. Stockton, of Midville. Members of the county medical society acted as an honorary escort. The father of Jesse Mercer, at Shoulder Bone the good will treaty with the Creeks was created in 1786. Among prominent residents were Governor William Northern, Bishop George Pierce and Richard Malcomb Johnson, author.

Truck Hits Wagon, Killing Two Negroes

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., April 16.—(AP)—When a Georgia produce truck from Athens crashed into a farm wagon in which a family of six negroes were returning home last night, two negro children were killed.

The wagon was being driven by Joe Lawrence, negro farmer residing eight miles from here, and with him were his wife and four children. There was a blinding rain at the time and the police said that the driver of the truck said that he did not see the wagon. Mary Lawrence, 15, and Joe Lawrence, 10 months old, died shortly after being taken to a hospital in the truck. Police detained M. C. Spinks, driver of the truck, until officials of the company came here from Athens to make adjustments.

STATE BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM IN LINCOLN

WASHINGTON, Ga., April 16.—Georgia bicentennial celebration for Lincoln county drew large crowds to Lincoln F. day. Abit Nix was the chief speaker. "Early Settlements in Georgia," "Life of Oglethorpe," "Resources of Georgia," "Nancy Hart," "Joel Chandler Harris," "Frank L. Stanton" were among the subjects featured by the several schools of the county, all of which had a holiday and a picnic lunch for the day.

GEORGIA RELIEF HEAD TO GET DATA ON CAMP

De La Perriere Will Leave for Washington Today to Receive Instructions.

Herman De La Perriere, Georgia state relief director in charge of administration of Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds, will leave at noon today for Washington, where he expects to receive instructions for enlistment in President Roosevelt's restoration army, he announced Sunday.

Relief directors of southern states will meet in Washington Tuesday night. Mr. De La Perriere said he probably would be back in Atlanta on Thursday.

No far no definite quotas of men have been assigned the various states for enlistment in the conservation corps, but Georgia's quota has been tentatively estimated at 6,000.

No effort has been made to work out quotas for cities and other subdivisions in the state pending assignment of the number for the state at large, and instructions as to method of selection, De La Perriere said.

Several thousand letters asking for places in the forestry camps have come to his office, the director said, but no applications have been accepted and none will be until a supply of the proper application blanks has been received.

Sisters Become Brides In Double Ceremony

MIAMI, Fla., April 16.—(AP)—Sisters were the brides in a double wedding ceremony performed here today immediately after Easter sunrise religious services on the beach. Miss Olive Buchanan was married to Henry J. Forsander, of Miami. Miss Edell Buchanan Harris was married to Donald Hutchinson, also of Miami.

The Buchanan sisters formerly lived in Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Harris said in her application for a marriage license she was divorced from her first husband in 1928.

New Reprieve Move For Ruth Judd Begun

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 16.—(UP)—A new reprieve for Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned "Blonde Tigress," was sought tonight so that her life will not be endangered by the hearing on her appeal to the Arizona state supreme court tomorrow.

The hearing—at which Mrs. Judd is making her last fight to escape—will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow. Her attorneys feared a decision may not be returned until midnight Thursday, five hours before she is scheduled to hang at state prison here.

Italian Flyer Lost In Australian Hop

RANGOON, Burma, April 16.—(AP)—Fears were here tonight for the safety of Italian aviator Robino, who is believed to have been forced down in some remote part of Burma.

Robino, who is flying from Lympe, England, to Australia, has been unreported since leaving Calcutta at 10:30 p. m. Friday for Victoria, Burma. Flying conditions have been extremely bad.

The flyer arrived in Calcutta Friday afternoon after a non-stop flight from Karachi through a heavy rain.

Japanese Infantrymen Take Port of Funing

SHANHAICHAU, China, April 16.—(AP)—Two brigades of Japanese infantry, pushing onward together from Taitowing, were reported to have occupied the Chinese port of Funing, after a four-hour battle at noon today.

A Rango News Agency dispatch said the 36th infantry brigade under Major General Yoshikazu Takata and the 23rd brigade commanded by Major General Kaoru Nakamura, had put to rout the Chinese defenders, who retreated towards Changli.

The attack apparently was planned as a means of hastening the Chinese evacuation of the district east of the Lwan river, a new center of Japanese operations south of the Great Wall and in north China proper.

Several trains from Peking, Liu-showing, Changli and Lwan-Chow were said by the Rango correspondent to be taking the retreating Chinese troops aboard.

Earlier Japanese reports from south of the Wall said 500 Chinese were killed in a battle 12 miles south of Taitowing, with about 1,500 others fleeing towards Kungping.

RUSSIANS MAY GET HEAVIER PENALTY IN SABOTAGE TRIAL

peared to be a typical communist political oration.

He defended soviet justice and cautiously arraigned its recent British house of commons critics.

Reading from a hand-written manuscript, but nevertheless making frequent vigorous gestures, the prosecutor hurled defiance at those in England who, it was reported here, had sought to prevent the trial.

"Our enemies forgot the sovereignty of the soviet union and attempted to exercise moral pressure on us," Vishinsky asserted.

"They are hysterical and have lost their self-control. But they must understand that the abject and insolent demand of imperialists has met resistance from a country of free peasants and workers founded on the supreme October revolution and led by the communist party."

The soviet organ, today printed what it called the text of three conversations between Sir Edmund Ovey and Maxim Litvinoff, soviet commissar of foreign affairs, shortly before Sir Edmund was recalled to report to his government about the trial.

The newspaper charged that Sir Edmund had tried to have the trial canceled and that the British foreign office had suppressed news of the reported conversations.

Other Britons on trial are A. W. Gregory, John Cusack, William Macdonald and C. H. Nordwell, all of whom are employees of the British electrical firm which engaged in work at a number of soviet electrical plants.

SENATOR DAVIS STARTS TRIP TO SANITARIUM

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(AP)—Senator Davis, republican, Pennsylvania, left the capital tonight for Hot Springs, Ark., where he will enter a sanitarium for further treatment for diabetes and gall bladder trouble, before he underwent an operation for appendicitis March 11, in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Davis went with a senator. A statement issued from his office today said:

"Physicians who attended Senator Davis are hopeful that the sanitarium treatment and rest will recede the necessity of a second operation."

HIGH COURT TO HEAR FACOR'S PLEA TODAY

"Jake the Barber" Prepares
To Fight Order for Extradition to England.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(AP)—While Chicago police and underworld leaders were searching for his son, attorneys for John "Jake the Barber" Facor tonight prepared to fight before the supreme court tomorrow a lower court order that he be extradited to England to answer charges of swindling.

Facor's legal representatives were silent tonight as to the kidnapping, but intimation was given from among them that they would be informed of late developments before entering court tomorrow.

The supreme court also has set down for hearing tomorrow or during the week other cases affecting both Chicago and New York and their surrounding territories.

The Chicago sanitary district and Illinois tomorrow will argue before the court that the report of Special Master Edward F. McClellan in the Lake Michigan diversion cases should be rejected.

Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin complained that Illinois and the sanitary district were not complying with the court's decrees in the case of the Lake Michigan diversion in the Chicago river and in the erection of the southwest side disposal plant.

The special master found the complaint well grounded, and urged the court to take further action to enforce its decree, including a recommendation that Illinois be required to appropriate the money needed, raising it by the issuance of bonds if necessary.

Illinois and the sanitary district insist the court's decree, which followed the recommendations of its special master at the time, now Chief Justice Hughes, has been superseded by a river and harbor act since passed by congress, so far as diversion from Lake Michigan is concerned.

The court is expected to hand down its decision in the case of the diversion of 5,000 cubic feet per second instead of that 1,500 fixed by the supreme court.

New York then took the stage in two cases which involve the validity of the appointment of receivers for the Manhattan Elevated Railway by Circuit Judge Manton, some stockholders contending that the receivers' authority, and should have permitted the regular federal district court to act.

There are five other cases down for argument during the week, all of which are now ready for hearing. The court is expected on April 14 to take a recess until May 8, when more cases will be ready for oral argument.

The court is expected to hand down its decision in the case of either on April 24 or May 8, and should the action be adverse to the Chicagoans, the forwarding of the mandate of the court probably will be expedited by the government.

Newton D. Baker will argue the case for Facor, and a considerable number of legal experts are expected to be on hand in his behalf, although not taking part in the argument.

O. Levinson, who last night described the kidnapping of Facor's son as a "pure money case," will be present, as will Allen Carter and other Chicago attorneys. Carter arrived here today, after an automobile drive from Chicago, where he was not expected until tomorrow.

FIGHT ON FINANCES SLATED IN COUNCIL

to the urgent need of both buildings. Present structures are considered obsolete and unable to meet the demand placed upon them."

The new finance sheet will face a rough road in the council session. It will have few backers in the form in which it is presented. Administration leaders will fight it for the most part because of alleged over-anticipations it carries. Anti-administrationists will oppose it because it provides another blanket 5 per cent cut in salaries for all non-school employees, forcing cuts for the year to a total of from 5 to 21 per cent.

The latter group will endeavor to add to anticipations in order to obviate the necessity of the additional 5 per cent slash, and this will form an issue on which conservative members of council will wage a determined battle. The new sheet actually carries more than $35,000 more than the revised January sheet which council approved, and on which Atlanta banks agreed to lead the city money prior to the passage of the legislative act directing that 30 instead of 20 per cent of the city's revenue be allocated for school purposes.

The 30 per cent bill threw the approved sheet out of balance and since that time the municipality has been unable to balance a sheet, with the result that 4,000 employees are now more than a month behind in obtaining pay for their services.

Councilman William G. Hastings, chairman of the traffic committee of council, has announced he will offer a measure designed to raise about $50,000 this year by imposing a $1 drivers' license on those operating automobiles in the city limits. This will bring opposition from a group which contends that Atlantans should not be forced to contribute any further funds at this time to the government.

included as part of the senate farm relief bill, President Roosevelt added to the list last week the similar measure for re-financing small city home mortgages.

Faced by a threat from the inflationists bloc in the house, the house democratic leadership this week will seek to eliminate the liberal measure whereby 145 members can force a vote on any pending measure. Many democrats are opposed to repeal of this rule.

Smoothing out of differences over the Glass banking bill and the railroad bill await the return here of Secretary of Treasury William H. Woodin, who was called to New York by the death of his mother. Woodin is reported to be opposed to the modification of federal reserve banks and the provision for separation of security affiliates from commercial banks.

TENNESSEE PLANNING FOR $4,000,000 LOAN

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 16.—(AP)—Formation of a syndicate of banks is under way in the four large Tennessee cities—Chattanooga, Nashville, Knoxville and Memphis—to make a $4,000,000 loan to the state to pay much of its past due indebtedness. T. R. Preston, president of the Hamilton National bank of Chattanooga, announced tonight.

Minister's Novel Swapping Plan Is Aiding Employment in Atlanta

Did you know?
That you can swap a certain number of hours' work for a facial or a dancing lesson, the services of a lawyer or doctor, a haircut, shave, shine and shampoo, laundry and garage service or even lunch and supper?

Or that for certain services of painter, upholsterer and seamstress and sales people, Atlanta firms will exchange insurance, real estate, bicycles, soft drinks, gas and oil, printing, curtains and many other commodities?

Neither did we until the Rev. A. B. Jones, who organized the Co-operative Exchange Club at 959 Highland terrace, N. E., told us about it, and added that the same sort of swapping is being carried on successfully in 150 other cities. And the rapidity with which Atlanta's swapping club is growing indicates that it is going to be very successful here.

Factor's legal representatives were silent tonight as to the kidnapping, but intimation was given from among them that they would be informed of late developments before entering court tomorrow.

The supreme court also has set down for hearing tomorrow or during the week other cases affecting both Chicago and New York and their surrounding territories.

MAISON TEST FLIGHT AGAIN IS POSTPONED

AKRON, Ohio, April 16.—(AP)—Further postponement of the initial flight of the U. S. S. Macon was announced tonight by Captain Alger H. Dresel, skipper of the navy air cruiser.

A flight early tomorrow morning had been planned but was called off when weather charts showed unfavorable flying conditions.

5 MORE GEORGIANS NAMED "PATRONS" FOR BICENTENNIAL

Announcement of the addition of five distinguished Georgians to the "Patrons Committee of 200" of the Georgia bicentennial commission was made Sunday by Guy Woolford, commission treasurer.

They are former Governor John M. Slaton, who has subscribed to a memorial for his father; Miss Marian Woodward, who will dedicate a monument to her father; Miss Mary Michael, of Athens, for her parents; John Marion and Alice Sherwood Wise Michael; Mrs. Charles T. Airey, Savannah, for her late husband; and Mr. and Mrs. Pleasant A. Stovall, Savannah, for Mr. Stovall's father and brother, Bolling A. Stovall Sr. and Jr.

Among the organizations which have become members of the "Patrons Committee of 200" are the Colonial Dames of America; Mimosa Garden Club, of Atlanta; Georgia Auxiliary United Spanish-American War Veterans; Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Georgia Daughters of the American Revolution and the Garden Club of Georgia.

FATHER, 2 SONS HELD IN U. S. AGENT'S DEATH

JONESBORO, Ark., April 16.—(AP)—Leroy cloys, 35, federal prohibition agent, died in a hospital here this afternoon from bullet wounds received late yesterday in a fight at a farm home near here after he and another officer had arrested three members of a family on liquor law violation charges.

The other officer, R. W. Keck, was beaten severely on the head but he was reported retreating better today.

J. L. Wilkerson, 60, who with two of his sons, was rearrested immediately after the shooting, was said to be officers today as admitting he fired the fatal shots. Wilkerson and his sons, Otto and Fred, were held in jail at Harrisburg, De Witt county, on first-degree murder charges.

"make the mare go round."
Governor Talmadge said:
"The endeavor of Rev. A. B. Jones to organize the Co-operative Exchange Club is good and should have the endorsement and encouragement of all of our citizens."

The Atlanta Retail Merchants Association also has given the undertaking its approval and left it optional with the club as to whether it will accept the scrip, against which the club has money in the bank. Circulation of this scrip is intended to be a sort of endless chain affair but a dissatisfied customer can get the cash if he wants it simply by asking. However, Mr. Jones explained, the satisfied customers who keep it in circulation are the ones who help the unemployed situation here.

The aim of the organization, Mr. Jones explained, "is to help solve the unemployment problem—not through charity, but by giving people work. We pay these people to take in scrip, which is freely spent with our merchant members. You pay the club for the scrip and we deposit this money in the bank and thereby issue more scrip against it. Or we exchange the services for something you can swap with us."

The club can be reached on the phone at Henlock 3382-W.

None of the defense attorneys had arrived late this afternoon and the negroes still were confined in jail at Birmingham. The attorneys were expected in time for the opening of court at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow, and the negroes probably will be brought here before that hour.

National guardsmen from Hartselle, who maintained order during the trial of Patterson, already were here ready to take up their duties again.

Attorney General Thomas E. Knight Jr., directing the prosecution, has announced that he will oppose motions for a continuance, change of venue, or motion to quash the venire.

"The state is ready," he said, "and our witnesses are prepared to be here."

Weems was arraigned on an indictment charging him with attacking Mrs. Victoria Price, Huntsville mill worker, aboard a Southern railway freight train in Jackson county on March 25, 1931, the same charge on which Patterson was convicted.

Mrs. Price has accepted service on a subpoena and her testimony will be the keystone of the state's case as it was in the previous trial.

Knight announced that the state had again had subpoenas issued for Ruby Bates, also a Huntsville mill worker, and Lester Carter, of Knoxville, Tenn., whose testimony in the previous trial was directed principally at Mrs. Price's testimony.

The Bates girl made a dramatic appearance in court to repudiate part her testimony in the trials of two years ago at Scottsboro, when she identified several of the negroes as having attacked her.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEYS FACE FLOOD THREATS

BATESVILLE, Miss., April 16.—(AP)—Serious flood dangers tonight confronted the Coldwater and Tallahatchie valley comprising Panola, Quitman and Tallahatchie counties, already burdened by serious overflows as a result of additional heavy rains that have fallen in the last 48 hours.

The Tallahatchie river is beating heavily against Panola county levees in the vicinity of Asa and Stone, which are already weakened by relentless hammering during the last four weeks.

Levees are being patrolled, and plans went forward today for renewal of sandbagging tomorrow should the Tallahatchie show signs of breaking through.

More Pieces of Akron Found by Searchers

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(AP)—Admiral William W. Pratt, chief of naval operations, reported tonight that ships searching for the remains of the huge airship Akron had found pieces of the dirigible's outer cover late this afternoon, but added that unless the find developed the search would be called off next Wednesday.

NEW TRANSFER SOUGHT IN 'SCOTTSBORO' CASE

Defense Slated To Ask
Venue Change in Weems
Trial Today.

DECATUR, Ala., April 16.—(AP)—A new movement to transfer the Scottsboro case from north Alabama tonight appeared certain as attorneys, witnesses and veniremen gathered for the trial of Charlie Weems, 22, second of nine negroes indicted in the Scottsboro case to face trial.

Weems' trial was set for tomorrow in Morgan circuit court under a change of venue from Jackson county where he and seven companions were convicted and sentenced to death two years ago.

Joseph R. Brodsky, of New York, employed by the International Labor Defense in behalf of the negroes, when Weems was arraigned April 8, asked for a continuance to gather evidence to support a motion for a change of venue.

To this Samuel S. Leibowitz, of New York, chief of defense counsel, last night in New York added the word that a change of venue, "probably to Mobile," would be asked on the grounds that prejudice here would prevent a fair trial.

None of the defense attorneys had arrived late this afternoon and the negroes still were confined in jail at Birmingham. The attorneys were expected in time for the opening of court at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow, and the negroes probably will be brought here before that hour.

National guardsmen from Hartselle, who maintained order during the trial of Patterson, already were here ready to take up their duties again.

Attorney General Thomas E. Knight Jr., directing the prosecution, has announced that he will oppose motions for a continuance, change of venue, or motion to quash the venire.

"The state is ready," he said, "and our witnesses are prepared to be here."

Weems was arraigned on an indictment charging him with attacking Mrs. Victoria Price, Huntsville mill worker, aboard a Southern railway freight train in Jackson county on March 25, 1931, the same charge on which Patterson was convicted.

Perilla walked ahead between Corey and Tony, while Hilda came after with Malcolm.

"I really think that this time Hilda and Malcolm will hit it off," said Perilla, musingly. "I do hope so."

"How like a woman," said Tony. "No sooner does one get married, than she plans a wedding for a friend. They do look well together, though."

"Yes," Corey agreed, "but that platinum blond hair of Hilda's would look well with anybody's."

"Mine?" asked Tony. "But after all, I think I prefer the picturesque Jane."

"Picturesque, according to Malcolm," agreed Perilla. "He treats that girl terribly, and yet she never seems annoyed at him."

"But that isn't teasing," said Corey. "She is like a picture, not one definite picture, you know, but—"

"A while film," suggested Tony. "However, I didn't come here to discuss the little seckatary. Any other guests tonight, Perilla?"

"Only a couple of ushers. Two friends of Malcolm's, Pete Wilson and Bob Coles. Know them?"

"No, not yet. But I know you like their names."

"Yes, I do. I suppose you think I'm a silly to like silly names."

"I think you're everything there is of the most glorious," declared Tony, and Malcolm chimed in. "That's right, old top. Glorious is just the word for you, Perilla. And I want you two to like each other a heap, for you two are about the only real friends I have."

"Why, Corey?" and the girl's voice was wondering. "You never told me that before."

"Oh, he doesn't mean it literally," and Gaskell laughed. "There are lots of men in his home town who would gladly be more friendly than he likes—yes, and lots of fair maidens who would gladly be bride to the young Lochinvar."

"Well, they're lost their chance," Perilla said. "The girls, I mean. But Corey can have all the men friends he wants."

"They reached the house and went in the lounge, a great room with the most comfortable furnishings that could be devised."

Gaskell, who had seen Mr. and Mrs. Perilla, walked ahead between Corey and Tony, while Hilda came after with Malcolm.

DODGERS, GIANTS PLAY 14 INNINGS TO 1 DEADLOCK

Darkness Halts Epic Inter-borough Battle at Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, April 16.—(AP)—The Dodgers and the Giants struggled through 14 innings to a 1-1 tie today in the first inter-borough battle of the National league season. Darkness kept them from going on to a decision that was not in sight when the game was called.

Carl Hubbell and Joe Shauts, rival southpaws, pitched effectively through the first eleven frames, each yielding eight hits and one run. Luque and Bell, who followed Hubbell, and Van Mungo, Shauts' successor, did about as well. Hubbell fanned seven batters.

It was the first championship game of the season for the Giants, whose series in Boston was completely ruined by the weather, and the first home game of the season for the Dodgers. The event was devoid of the customary opening day trimmings, which are reserved for the "official" Ebbets field opening Wednesday. About 32,000 fans braved threatening weather to see the first game of the traditional rivalry series.

An error by Al Lopez put the Giants in front in the second inning. Hank Leiber, Giant rookie outfielder, beat out a hit. Shauts pitched to Johnny Vergez, the Giants put on a hit-and-run. Lopez threw hurriedly past second into center field and Leiber reached third as Vergez walked. Mancuso's fly brought in the run.

Hack Wilson, making his first appearance with the Dodgers since the season opened, clouted one against the right field fence in the seventh for a triple and Tony Cuccinello immediately drove him home with the tying run, lining a single through the infield.

Hubbell pitched a 1-0 tie game through 14 innings. He was the first pitcher to pitch a 1-0 tie game in the National league since 1907. The game was called at 10:15 p.m. because of darkness. The score was 1-1. The game was called at 10:15 p.m. because of darkness. The score was 1-1.

Robb Seeks Pitching Talent

With poor pitching again sending the Crackers down to defeat yesterday, President Wilbert Robinson, of the Atlanta club, plans to push his hunt for more mound strength this week. He will go to Charlotte where he may continue on up east from there to talk with some of the big league clubs. Several have promised the Crackers' pitching help.

OLD FAVORITE ON WEBER CARD

Veteran Atlanta wrestling fans whose recollections extend as far back as the good year 1929 when the John Contos regime was in its heyday here, will welcome an old favorite back to the city auditorium Tuesday night.

Pete Sauer, who grapples Ivan Vachutov, Russian champion, in the headline match of Henry Weber's coming show, first became popular here seven years ago. A youngster fresh from the middle west at that time, Sauer made his first appearance in the east and south as "The Masked Marvel," wrestling with a black hood, which was not to be removed until he met defeat, over his head. Pete won seven or eight matches here in convincing style until he moved through the ropes in a bout with London and was known.

The hood was taken off and Sauer's identity at last revealed to a curious public. The name did not mean much at that time, but it has since. It has passed since it has come to mean a guarantee of quality in wrestling. The Bronze Man has risen as the most popular and persistent contender for the world's crown won for three years by Jimmy London. The dispute as to whether London is still champion, or whether Sauer has passed to Joe Savoldi on the recent questionable decision at Chicago still rages, but, in either case, Sauer should be the first man to get a chance at a championship. His record is that good.

As Sauer is, Vachutov figures to extend him. In fact the big Russian believes he has a real chance to win. He is also in the one-hour semi-weekly Tuesday, bringing together Frank Brunovics, the Polish wild man, and Floyd Marshall, the pound-for-pound champion. Brunovics is a favorite here because of his good showings against Garibaldi and Marvin, but he will have his hands full with Marshall, a capable wrestler of the rough and tumble variety.

Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters and the Miner & Carter Drug company.

President's Cup Play Heads List of Fine Program.

A schedule of five major tournaments in addition to weekly and special one-day events was announced Sunday for members of the Capital City Country Club by the club tourney committee. The schedule was made in co-operation with Howland Beck, the club professional, and Willie Livingston, the club caddy.

The president's cup tourney will head the list and will start on May 10 when the qualifying rounds will be played. The first two days will be given over to qualifying rounds and also to each round of play.

Other tournaments of importance are the Governor's trophy, the club championship, the annual July 4 event and a Women's Club championship.

Members of the tourney committee have announced that weekly tournaments will be scheduled for Saturday and Sunday and will be arranged each week.

A husband and wife handicap tournament has been planned for Sunday afternoons, details of which will be announced later and two-ball mixed foursome play has been planned for each month.

Dates for the weekly and special events, including the mixed foursomes, will be announced later, and will depend largely on weather conditions. May 16—President's cup. May 20—Governor's trophy. July 4—Flag tourney. September 14—Women's championship. September 15—Women's championship.

Girl Athlete Beats Boys At Athens

ATHENS, Ga., April 16.—The Georgia scholastic athletic rule book appears to have thwarted the ambition of an Athens high school girl to emulate Babe Didrikson, as she has been barred from competing in her ability warrants her being placed on the team.

The young lady is 15-year-old Emily Rose (Hink) Wood. Athens high school's star basketball player, a daughter of Representative and Mrs. Emory, is breaking many records during the basketball season. Hink was urged by the high school coach, Sam Gardner, to try out for the tennis team. She did and after some strenuous competition won a place on the first team, eliminating a number of boys who were looked upon as especially good tennis players.

Of the team went to Gainesville last week to open its interscholastic competition. Hink donned trousers, and with a boyish bobbed head looked like all the rest of the Athens team. But some of the opposing side noted that she was after all a girl and hastily informed his coach.

The coach dug out the rule book and found that the rules prevented girls from competing in the same event and Hink was barred.

Miss Wood, according to Miss Laura Powers, her athletic instructor at Athens, is one of the most remarkable girl athletes she has ever seen.

Masters of Chance

Mr. Lee Langdon, of New York city, has long been known as a master player of the cards. In winning the Vanderbilt cup championship in 1929, together with Messrs. Michael T. Gorbil, John P. Matthews and Harry Raffel, he executed a brilliant squeeze on the very last hand of the tournament to clinch the match for himself and his teammates. That his defense is as good as his offense is amply proved by the following hand, which was defended by him in the eastern championships, recently held at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York city.

East Point Chevrolet Company Notes Marked Upturn in Spring Business

NEW, USED AUTOS SHOW INCREASES, O'NEAL DECLARES

Sales and Service Forces Enlarged as Collections and Prospect Lists Improve, Grow.

An unusual pickup in spring trade, together with steady and consistent improvement in collections, indicates the beginning of a rapid return to normal business conditions, according to D. L. O'Neal, president of the East Point Chevrolet Company.

Mr. O'Neal, commenting on recent notable increases in his company's business turnover, states that sales of both new Chevrolets and used cars during March and during the year to date show considerable improvement over corresponding periods of last month and last year. In addition, business of the service department also has shown a ready response to improved conditions, as compared with last year.

The files of the East Point Chevrolet Company, Mr. O'Neal states, indicate more new and used car prospects at present than for months past. He points particularly to this fact as an index to improved business conditions.

In addition, Mr. O'Neal asserts, collections in all lines have improved considerably, particularly in the last 30 days.

March—National Demonstration Month, sponsored by the Chevrolet Motor Company—is proving a distinct success, says Mr. O'Neal. During this month, in which the Chevrolet Company is conducting a radio essay contest, a Chevrolet a day is being awarded to persons writing the best essays on "Why I Like the New Chevrolet Six."

"This contest," says Mr. O'Neal, "is gaining in popularity and has been a means of gaining an unusual number of prospects for new Chevrolets, in that it shows the public the superior qualities of the Chevrolet."

As a result of this increased interest in the Chevrolet, the East Point concern has enlarged its sales staff and added to its already large service force, with C. D. Bedenbaugh, formerly for eight years associated with the Chevrolet Motor Company as special service representative, in charge of the latter.

C. T. McGuire, vice president of East Point Chevrolet, is general sales manager, and E. D. Jones is used car sales manager. C. Clark is manager in charge of truck sales.

INFLATION MEASURES INTEREST TEXTILE MEN

NEW YORK, April 16.—Two developments during the past week give further assurance that large-scale recovery progress is being made in the general business trend of the country. First, we refer to the announcement that President Roosevelt is ready to "scrap" the policy of economic nationalism in order to assist the world trade parley. Such a program must tend to open foreign markets for American-made products and, though many individuals anticipate tariff adjustments with a feeling of fear, we are inclined to agree with an important government official who pointed out recently that, in spite of our high tariff wall, we have today 12,000,000 unemployed. The program as announced by the president would develop a freer flow of goods in international trade, an outlet greatly needed to relieve American production.

Second, we refer to the imminence of some form of inflation. It is generally conceded that the administration would like to avoid outright currency inflation through the use of other means, such as, for instance, the liberal use of government credit. But even though uncertainty remains as

QUALITY PRINTING AID TO BUSINESS

Jesse R. Williams Stresses Necessity for Care in Planning Matter.

Nothing so much reflects the character of a business concern or the quality of its product or service as its printed matter, according to Jesse R. Williams, owner of the Williams Printing Company, Rhodes building, 78 Marietta street.

Mr. Williams stresses the fact that a piece of printed matter, to perform the utmost in the job for which it is designed, must be physically of good appearance. It cannot bear this appearance, he asserts, if careful and thorough expert attention is not given to the selection of design, wording, type, paper stock and printing—things which must go into any piece of printed material to assure the greatest effectiveness.

The Williams Printing Company, its owner states, is fully equipped, both professionally and mechanically, to perform these services for the businessman, from the planning to the printing of any advertising, stationery or record forms. Modern, high-speed machinery, used for all printing work, is manned by experts of long experience.

Upon effective printed matter, says Mr. Williams, depends much of the success or failure of any business enterprise. In this respect, he asserts, printed material has two distinct duties to perform—to get business and to conduct business.

In connection with the first duty, he asserts, the best care and judgment, thought and effort should be expended in preparation of printed materials, whether they be for advertising or for other purposes. The printing purchaser also should employ care in the selection of his printer, in order that he may avoid waste of time, money and effort, or a poorly executed piece of matter.

Equally thorough attention should be given to the second duty of printed matter, especially with a view to obtaining clarity and conciseness, so that it may be readily readable and easily handled in the conduct of well-ordered business, a factor which also will eliminate much waste of time in the office.

The Williams Printing Company is equipped and prepared to give expert advice and service on all types of printing.

To the means, it is clearly evident that some form of inflation is in process of development. Knowledge of this is responsible to a large extent for the advance in prices of stocks and commodities brought about by the greater activity during the past few days. And, as the administration's plans become more crystallized, we may reasonably expect sounder market conditions and more normal buying.

Interest is still centered, of course, in the farm relief bill and in the Black bill.

Advices received from Washington report the adoption by the senate of an administration amendment to the farm relief bill which would make the bill effective at the beginning of the next marketing year. This is construed by our industry to be early August. This change would make current goods at current prices an attractive purchase, because it would eliminate for some months the probability of taxes on "floor stocks."

In our own industry, many mills continue to decline sales beyond May, a few are extending sales into June; others have withdrawn their entire production from the market. We have had a fair volume of business on price cloths; sales on narrow sheetings have totaled a substantial volume; broad-cloths have been in limited demand and more colored goods sales have totaled a sizable volume.

ATLANTA CONCERN PRAISED BY TEXAN

Product of Envelope Company Subject of Warm Commendation Here.

The attention with which envelopes are often received was evidenced the other day by a letter which was sent to the Atlanta Envelope Company, well-known local envelope manufacturer, located at 505-11 Stewart avenue, S. W.

A large manufacturer in another line here in Atlanta and a regular customer of the Atlanta Envelope Company, complimenting him on the envelopes he is using and requesting the name of the manufacturer. The local concern answered the letter in part as follows, sending a copy to the envelope company:

"These envelopes were purchased from the Atlanta Envelope Company. It is a processed kraft envelope and has been made in the United States. It has taken the liberty to call the Atlanta Envelope Company and give them your name and address—requesting that they send you samples and prices on this particular grade."

"We have done business with this house for a term of years and do not hesitate to recommend the quality of their work or their good character. Any transaction that you might enter into with them we are sure will prove satisfactory."

"We appreciate the kind remarks made about us in this letter," said S. Guthman, president of the Atlanta Envelope Company. "It is not our habit to solicit testimonials about our service from our customers, and when one of them is kind enough to offer us such a sterling recommendation, it makes us feel mighty good."

The Dunbar-Dukate Company's seafood packing plant at Pass Christian, Miss., employing approximately 500 workers, resumed operations after a six-week suspension, the management announcing the plant would continue operations throughout the packing season. Fleets of fishermen's boats put out for the reefs as the plant reopened.

The Rubber Manufacturers' Association, Inc., reported shipments of automobile tire inner tubes in January amounted to 2,506,585, an increase of about 42 per cent over December.

E. L. Bruce Company, Chicago, announces orders have been received for a quarter-million feet of oak and cottonwood lumber for making beer cases. The company manufactures hardwood flooring.

State manufacturers report the return of beer has caused a gain in the timber business in the Ozark region. The staves are being used for beer kegs.

The Berghoff Brewing Corporation has ordered 30,000,000 bottle caps and its first order for labels was 7,000,000. The company will add 100 men in the bottling department on April 5.

Thirty-Two Ohio Hotels Add 324 New Workers

Girls' High Student Wins With Essay for Pedigree

Miss Hilda Perry Writes Impressions of Vitamin D Milk After Visit to Atlanta Plant.

Two aspiring, attentive and observing young journalists of Girls' High school students who were conducted on a tour of the Pedigree pasteurizing plant at 165 Haynes street, S. W., by Mrs. Lula M. Hutchins, the Pedigree hostess.

At the plant, B. B. George, general manager, told the girls that Pedigree had introduced a new milk in Atlanta, the new Pedigree Vitamin D milk.

This feature of their tour made such an impression on the youthful scribblers that they all adopted it as the subjects of their essays, stressing the healthful aspects of the pasteurized milk and the anti-rachitic activity of the natural Vitamin D concentrate which is extracted directly from cod liver oil and is added to the milk.

Miss Perry's essay, which was judged to be the best because she presented more facts and handled them in an interesting way, follows:

"Pedigree Dairies are the first in the south to furnish the public with Vitamin D milk.

"Milk contains lime in sufficient quantity for bone building, but the ability of the human being to utilize this lime in the building of bones and teeth is dependent on the presence of Vitamin D. Ordinary cow milk contains a very small amount of this element; therefore cod liver oil is used to supplement this defect. Dr. Zucker, of Columbia University, after 10 years of experimentation, has successfully extracted Vitamin D in an odorless and tasteless form from cod liver oil. He named this Vitamin D extract 'Vitex'."

"Grade A dairies in the vicinity of Atlanta furnish Pedigree Dairies with rich, pure milk. They are selected because of their modern equipment and sanitary facilities. Rules of rigid sanitation must be observed. Each cow is inspected daily, thoroughly cleaned and bathed before each milking. The housing equipment for milking is carefully ventilated and cleaned. The diet of the cow is given special attention as to quantity, quality, and variety of food ration. Each employee must submit to a periodical physical examination."

"Children must have Vitamin D in order to build strong, healthy bones. If they do not receive this vitamin in sufficient quantities, rickets will almost surely develop. Rickets is a disease characterized by a softening and curving of the bones of children due to the absence of calcium.

"A quart of Pedigree Dairies milk, which contains Vitamin D, used daily in the child's diet for 40 days clinically have cured rickets, because a quart of this milk contains the equivalent amount of Vitamin D of three teaspoonsful of standard cod liver oil. It has been proven a very tiresome and unpleasant experience to persuade a child to take a dose of cod liver oil preceding each meal, but children do not object to this rich, creamy milk which, while not a medicine, possesses medical values which are unsurpassed.

"Pedigree Dairies received their license to prepare and market Vitamin D from Dr. Zucker after one of his representatives had selected Pedigree Dairies because of sanitary conditions and the physical condition of the personnel and cows."

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—The bond market more than held its own during the past week in the face of a revival of inflation rumors and uncertainties regarding the government's forthcoming financial plans.

While United States government securities were mildly irregular, foreign bonds were relatively steady and numerous secondary issues followed stocks rather closely. Foreign obligations were mixed, weakness of the Germans acting as an unsettling influence.

Liberty fourth 4-14s were the most active of the federal section. Early in the week this issue reacted moderately to reports that the treasury would call all or part of the loan of which some $8,268,000,000 is now outstanding. The bonds recovered later and President Roosevelt announced Friday no call would be issued at this time. The majority of bankers favored postponement of any large refunding operations.

German maturities slumped and rallied at intervals, but losses were the net result. Holders of Reich bonds were still nervous over the country's political and economic problems. Banking observers were closely watching the German trade balances for a cue as to whether the Hitler regime might be forced to ask for a reduction in foreign debt service. German exports for the first part of this year were considerably under those of the same 1932 period.

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—Industrial stocks continue to provide most of the curb market activity and their quotations have been advanced.

After some early profit-taking last week the list bubbled up strongly on Thursday as commodity prices took a broad jump. Utilities were rather reluctant to advance, though they showed general gains. Oils turned strong.

Mining shares were leaders, especially Newmont, Pioneer Gold and New Jersey Zinc. In oils, Creole Petroleum and International Petroleum traded briskly at times and made some price appreciation. In the higher price brackets Humble was a strong feature.

Children of Ten May Now Secure Standard Old Line Insurance
WHAT father, nowadays, has not asked himself, "How can I make my children thrifty? How can I teach them the value of money?"

Fathers know that conditions of life today have greatly affected the thoughts of children. To children, the old virtues of thrift and saving are too often but words, and hazy words at that.

The fathers know that an unusual constructive program is needed to offset this tendency, but what will the program be? Life Insurance savings is the answer—it offers the most effective training available.

It is effective because it is unusual, because it offers a definite objective, because children respond to the self-reliant feeling it gives. Older persons save for Life Insurance when they will save for nothing else. Children respond in the same manner—and more readily.

Just as surely as the savings increase, so does the character of the child grow. The saving habit is developed. Thrift acquires a new meaning because the savings are for a definite purpose. And this is not a passing influence. The lessons learned, the habits formed, are life-long in their effect.

BUSINESS RECORDS ENCOURAGING RISE ALONG WIDE FRONT

Commodity Price Advance, Retail Sales Increase, Auto Production Spur Trade Improvement.

By HIRAM HERTELL.
NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—Under the spur of higher commodity prices and smart increases in retail sales, automobile and steel production, business made an encouraging advance on a wide front during the past week.

The 3.2 per cent legislation continues to make its influence felt in the statistics. The second week of legal beer apparently finds public enthusiasm diminished for the product, and increased employment has resulted in many centers.

In full swing, too, during the past seven-day period, was the administration's reforestation plan which tended to improve the employment picture, but the unsettled farm relief program was delaying the progress made generally in agricultural regions.

The rebound last week of steel operations was viewed as particularly heartening, reflecting as it does the increased activity of general trade and particularly the automotive industry.

Steel production at 20 1/2 per cent of capacity—a lift of 3 points—represents the highest point touched during many weeks, and indications are that a further gain of a point or two will be registered during the coming week. Such an objective would fit in with the government's policy of providing more work.

A cross-section of automotive activity showed that the industry is enjoying the combined effects of the spring demand and improved banking conditions. Thousands of employees, being recalled by the leading factories, and many plants are working overtime.

Electric power production showed a smaller than seasonal decline. While the output of 1,339,670,000 kilowatt hours was slightly below the previous week, the figure was significant in that it represented a decline of only 4.5 per cent under the corresponding week a year ago, the fourth week when the rate of decrease showed improvement.

Car loadings for the week ended April 8 were 487,206 cars, a drop of 7,292 cars from the preceding week but this was about seasonal and represented little change in the status of recognized index figures.

Extraordinary activity was reported in retail trade centers, with the volume of the largest since the Christmas shopping season. While sales of the cheaper grades of merchandise were well to the fore, the demand for quality goods picked up briskly toward the close of the Easter shopping period.

Indications were that the buying movement was in part a reaction from long deferred purchasing on the part of the public, with an attempt to secure items which would ordinarily have been bought several weeks ago.

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP)—Industrial stocks continue to provide most of the curb market activity and their quotations have been advanced.

After some early profit-taking last week the list bubbled up strongly on Thursday as commodity prices took a broad jump. Utilities were rather reluctant to advance, though they showed general gains. Oils turned strong.

Mining shares were leaders, especially Newmont, Pioneer Gold and New Jersey Zinc. In oils, Creole Petroleum and International Petroleum traded briskly at times and made some price appreciation. In the higher price brackets Humble was a strong feature.

Liberty fourth 4-14s were the most active of the federal section. Early in the week this issue reacted moderately to reports that the treasury would call all or part of the loan of which some $8,268,000,000 is now outstanding. The bonds recovered later and President Roosevelt announced Friday no call would be issued at this time. The majority of bankers favored postponement of any large refunding operations.

German maturities slumped and rallied at intervals, but losses were the net result. Holders of Reich bonds were still nervous over the country's political and economic problems. Banking observers were closely watching the German trade balances for a cue as to whether the Hitler regime might be forced to ask for a reduction in foreign debt service. German exports for the first part of this year were considerably under those of the same 1932 period.

TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 19

A poor native suddenly burst into the camp, bleeding, cut and nearly dead. He fell from exhaustion at Parker's feet. "Get him some water," commanded Jean's father. When it was brought, they forced some down the poor wretch's throat. He tried to speak.

"He say," translated Riano, "they follow him." The man continued to babble. "He break big law of the tribe," explained Riano. "Well, he's paid for it, poor wretch," said Jean. "What kind of law did he break?" The native kept on muttering excitedly. Riano listened.
